Alicia C. Williams (Lii Chantell), was born on January 15, 1981 in Demopolis, Alabama to Climon and Carolyn Williams. She was the eldest of two girls. Alicia and her family relocated from Alabama to Radcliff, Kentucky during the winter of 1989, and began attending New Hope Missionary Baptist church where, at an early age, Alicia accepted Christ and was a member of the Sunbeams and Genesis choirs. At her passing she resided in Lexington, KY was a faithful member of First African Baptist Church.

She graduated from North Hardin High School and went on to attend the University of Kentucky. Alicia received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology in 2005. Alicia's passion for make-up and beauty inspired her to become a professionally trained makeup artist studying under well-known brands like MAC, Dior Cosmetics and Estee Lauder. In 2014, Alicia stepped out on faith and opened her own make-up studio, Pose Artistry. As an independent published make-up artist, Alicia viewed the beauty in all of her clients and wanted to help people see themselves the way she did; beautiful in the skin God blessed you with! She loved inspiring others to be their best. In addition to makeup, Alicia loved fashion, shopping, reading, blogging, and tacos! Alicia made a lasting impression on everyone she met.
