

Mr. Henry "Hen-Boo" Cenika Tillman

January 21, 1980 - December 27, 2016

Henry Cenika Tillman, affectionately known as Hen-Boo, was born on January 21, 1980 to Debra Tillman and Henry Lacy, Jr.

Henry graduated from Lafayette High School. He attended University of Kentucky and Lexington Community College where he studied Commercial Sewing.

He was a faithful member of Greater Liberty Baptist Church. Wherever he went, his Bible went with him. His favorite quote was "GOD IS GOOD!" Henry loved his children. He enjoyed being with his closest friends, the IFC Brotherhood. In his leisure, his time was spent bowling, sewing, fishing and at car shows.

Hen-Boo never complained or worried about anything. He always said "God's got me." Henry had a contagious smile and was filled with lots of love. He was very humble and kind to anyone whom he came into contact with. God came first in his life, and even when it seemed that all odds were against him, he continued to pray and trust God. His last words to encourage his loved ones to continue on, no matter what happened to him were "Don't worry about me." Other than his parents, Henry is survived by four children, Ja'Marrion Jones-Tillman, Haniah Tillman, Skylar Jones-Tillman, and Tristan Jones-Tillman; six siblings, Daunced Cook, Thomas Tillman, Tammy Clay, James Tillman, Connellson Lacy and NaiTai Tillman; special family and friends, Velma Norris, De'Jour Hall, Lisa Coleman, John Clark, IFC Brotherhood, Betsy Bowen, Francis Bailey, Ray Torrez, Robert Riley; and a host of other family, nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.
