

MS Kisha Alise Cotton

December 4, 1972 - January 10, 2015

Kisha Alise Cotton was born December 4, 1972 in Pikeville, Ky. She was the daughter of Jacqueline Cotton and the late Edward Leon Cotton.

She was a graduate of Wheelwright High School, she also attended Eastern Kentucky University. Kisha loved her family, she was always “daddy’s little girl” she love her daddy more than life its self and he loved her just as much. After the passing of her father, her uncle, Truman became an important figure in her life, she loved her uncle dearly. Kisha loved living her life and will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

Besides her mother she is survived by five children; Diamond Griffey, of Lexington, Maya Cotton, Elijah Cotton, Damian Isaiah Cotton, of Wheelwright, KY and Jaxxon Cotton of Lexington, three brothers; Victor Cotton, Venice Major and Edward Cotton Jr., six aunts; Kathryn Greer, Geraldine Richardson, Dannie Ruth (Calvin) Shepherd, of Detroit, Michigan, Elizabeth (Maurice) Hollingsworth, Mary Hinton, of Cleveland, Ohio and Gloria Cotton of Hindman, KY., five uncles; Truman (Wanda Sue) Cotton, of Morristown, TN, Loveless Cotton of Dandridge, TN., David Cotton, of Columbus, OH, Charles (Renae) Hinton of Fargo, ND and Alfonzo Hinton of Cleveland, OH, two special grandmothers who spoiled her greatly; Nell (Granny Nell) Lewis of Louisville, KY and Edna Hisel (Granny Edna) Taylor of Dayton, OH and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and many friends.

“ I was so fortunate to know her. When I met her she had just found out that she was pregnant with Jaxxon. She was so sweet but she would tell you about yourself if needed but always in love. My heart is truly broken that her life was cut so short but God makes no mistakes (even if we feel he did). Kisha, Girl I love you so much. I will always cherish our time together. I really am devastated. Oh!! My son Nathan loved her too. My heart is hurting right now. LOVE YOU KISHA!!!

“ *I was pretty young "going through a very chubby awkward kinda stage" Chuck Steven and about everyone I knew called me fatboy LOL. KISHA on the other hand use to stop me on my way down the street, bend down rub her fingers in my hair, kiss me on both of my dimples and tell me " dont pay them boys any mind you'll grow up and be a handsome young man and they'll all be jealous". She was the sweetest but til this day I just can't understand why she lied to me....lol
I'll always remember you Kisha.... love you R.I.P*

“ I am so shocked by Kishas untimely passing. Just when she found her way she was taken. I'll always remember our silly fb chats always ending with her saying, "I love you, you're a true friend." Sending many prayers for her mother, children & brothers. Little Jaxxy has weighed especially heavy on my heart but I know Vic will carry on his mothers legacy and treat him like a king. Rest in peace Kisha, you will always be remembered fondly.

She did exactly what the Lord asked of her before He called her home! I will NEVER forget you sunshine! See you soon!!!*

“ Kisha!! She was so dear to me..She helped pick me up at such a dark time in my life..but my favorite memory of her, is when we were both pregnant and a group of our friends celebrated our pregnancies at Golden Corral..Them people were never so happy to see two hungry pregnant people leave..we laughed for hours and just enjoyed being happy for that moment..I love you Kisha so much and I appreciate every smile you put on my face..i love you KiKi!!!

“ My heart is broken over the loss of our beautiful Kisha! She was so full of life and wanted more than anything to live it to its fullest with all of her babies now that she had truly found her life again! She was an inspiration to all that knew her! Especially those that are suffering in this world. Those of us that were fortunate enough to be touched in some way by her and the love she so badly wanted to share will never forget the beautiful soul that she truly was! She is no longer tormented by the demons that she struggled with on this earth, may God rest her soul! It's not goodbye Kisha but see you later my girl.....love you, Michelle Couch
